

Speak Like a Native

Geared towards Executives working in a Foreign Country and wanting to communicate more effectively by going the extra step to become familiar with the local culture, many languages such as Greek and Spanish to name a few are taught as a foreign Language.

They can be taught both for Social and Executive Language Skills. Executive Communication of course takes it a step beyond by including the use of live exercises in the city to reinforce the material and have a long term impact.