

It is important that lnguage learning begins from a young age. That is why ExeCom offers language lessons for children as young as three years old. Using the aid of audiovisual media and simple language games, children become acclimated to the foreign language in a fun and safe environment.

ExeCom tutors are especially trained professionals well-accustomed to handling younger students, and can be trusted with using inventive techniques to keep childrens' attention peaked. The company includes spaces specifically tailored for children – including learning toys and a small playground. For children in the ages of 3-7, ExeCom has group classes in English, French and German.
